Menorca style country house only a few metres from the beach of Santandria. The property, which dates from the XVIII or XIX century, is made up of three independent dwellings: two independent floors in the main house plus a studio flat, which was originally a stable for the mule who worked the waterwheel, situated at the bottom of the stairway to the beach. In total the property has 7 bedrooms, 5 bathrooms and three kitchens.

The walls of the mansion house are made of sandstone with wooden beams. There is an open fireplace in the ground floor living room and the studio flat has air-conditioning. Additionally, there is a garage, a laundry and a water tank next to the traditional waterpump.

The property is surrounded by protected green belt and the house has private access to the beach.
